Overview

Upper Dolpo trek lies hidden behind the Dhaulagiri Range in Nepal's mid-western region where snow-fed streams runoff high mountains but few are perennial. Lower (Outer) Dolpo is characterized by a semi-arid topography with deep gullies and narrow valleys while Upper (Inner) Dolpo comprises a vast arid region of rolling semi-desert highlands, a continuation of the topography of the Tibetan plateau. Dolpo region is most easily reached by a flight from Kathmandu to Nepalgunj, in the humid southwest close to the Indian border, then to Dolpo's airport at Juphal. A three days trek up the Phoksundo Khola through a mix of forests and arid landscapes lead to Ringmo and the beautiful Phoksundo Lake. This is Nepal's deepest lake at 650m. It is 4,8km long and 1,8km, wide. Inner Dolpo Shey gompa trek traverses the cliff face along the side of the lake and then leads up the Phoksundo Valley gently at first then more steeply. The trail follows its narrow ravine to higher ridges and beautiful campsite to Shey Gompa a Tibetan influence settlement and prosperous Saldang village, a two kilometers ribbon Bön village of five settlements that lie on the trade route to Tibet.

Days of Itinerary

Day 1

Arrival Kathmandu (1350m./4,264ft.)

On the first day, our airport representative welcomes you at the Airport Terminal and then you will be taken to the MMT office at Kalahari. At the office, MMT's expert will provide you with further detailed information about the trip and all the terms and conditions will be disclosed. Eventually, our representative safely and comfortably takes you to the respective hotel. You can enjoy the city nightlife in the main tourist hub of Kathmandu: Thamel. Overnight in Kathmandu at 3-star Hotel with breakfast.

Day 2

Hole day kathmandu excursion.

This day is scheduled to visit the UNESCO-listed World Heritage sites including Swayambhunath, Patan Durbar Square, Bouddhanath, Pashupatinath, along with other historical and holy places. Swoyambnhunath: After a delightful breakfast in the morning, our city tour guide takes you to Swayambhunath which is at the top of the hillock to the west of Thamel. The temple is one of the oldest temples of Nepal which is popular among foreigners as 'Monkey Temple. The spectacular scenery, cheerful monkeys, the tranquil environment makes Swoyambhu worth visiting. Patan Durbar Square The excursion then accelerates towards Patan, the city of festival, feast, art, and culture. The city is a prominent place to visit due to ancient Patan Durbar square, Krishna Mandir, Ganesh Mandir, and many more temples and places. We inspect the art, history, cultural importance, and architectural craftsmanship of the city.

Day 3

Kathmandu to Nepalgunj by flight.

From Kathmandu, we take an early morning flight to Nepalgunj: one of the huge business hubs and industrial areas of Nepal. After half an hour of flight, we land at Nepalgunj airport and transfer to the 2 star-hotel for check-in. The remaining day at Nepalgunj is for visiting some interesting places and giving some rest to limbs and muscles. Overnight in Nepalgunj at 2-star Hotel. Meals: Breakfast/Lunch/Dinner. After early morning breakfast, we drive to Nepalgunj airport and take a flight to the Dolpo region. After 25-35 minutes of scenic mountain flight, the plane land at Juphal airport: the only airport in the Dolpo region. From Juphal, we follow the terraced farmland along the Bheri River and walk through the narrow gorge for a few hours until the trail comes at the administrative headquarter of Dolpa: Dunai. In the evening time, we explore headquarter and spend a good time with fellow trekkers. Tonight, we stay at Dunai.

Day 4

Flight from Nepalgunj to Juphal (2,320m/7601ft.) & trek to Sulighat (2,070m./6,790ft).

After early morning breakfast, we drive to Nepalgunj airport and take a flight to the Dolpo region. After 25-35 minutes of scenic mountain flight, the plane land at Juphal airport: the only airport in the Dolpo region. From Juphal, we follow the terraced farmland along the Bheri River and walk through the narrow gorge for a few hours until the trail comes at the administrative headquarter of Dolpa: Dunai. In the evening time, we explore headquarter and spend a good time with fellow trekkers. Tonight, we stay at Dunai.

Day 5

Sulighat to Renje (3,010m./9,873ft).

From Dunai, we begin our trek after having a delightful breakfast. At first, we walk along Bheri River then cross suspension bridges, deep gorge and trace through the terraced green fields to reach the village standing at hillock: Tarakot. The village was once a small headquarter of the independent Tichorung Kingdom. The village is famous for the town of the fortress which was built in ancient times. Explore the entire village if we have plenty of time remaining before taking shelter inside the camp. Overnight stay in Renji at camp
Meals: Breakfast/Lunch/Dinner

Day 6

Renje to Ringmo village (3,640m/11,940ft.) via Phoksundolake.

We start our today's journey after a delicate breakfast at Tarakot. From this village, we cross the river and climb through the buckwheat field enjoying the pristine view of Putha Himal and Churen Himal. The trail crosses a few rivers and leads us to Kanigaon from where we ascend to Sandul Gumpa which lies at the junction of Barbing Khola and Tarap Chu River. The trail now traces through the dense trees and narrow gorge along the river and finally reaches the beautiful village Laini. The village is the best camping site at the foot of the small surging waterfall nearby.

Day 7

Rest day in Phoksundolake and around ringmo village.

Enjoying the splendid view of the surging waterfall, we have our delicate breakfast at Laini. The trail today traces from Laini climbing mini pass and steep gorge before we descend to the cascade of Tilba Khola. From here, we climb up another ridge then descend down to Chyugur Khola and cross the suspension bridges to trace to Nawarpani. Overnight, stay at Nawarpani campsite or Phoksundo Lake at camp
Meals: Breakfast, Lunch & Dinner.

Day 8

Phoksundolake to Phoksundo khola(3,630m/11,900ft).

Today's trail is comparatively one of the variable trails of the trek. After early morning breakfast, we trace through the narrow gorge then cross a bridge and climb steeply up to the cliff from where the trail descends down to Tarap Chu River. To move further ahead, we cross a wooden bridge over Tarap Chu and ascend to a ridge at Serkam which was once a border between Nepal and Tibet. The trail from Serkam descends to SishulKhola and climbs on the top of the ridge from where we finally drop down to the flat valley where we set camp for today's shelter.

Day 9

Phoksundo khola to Phoksundo bhanjyang(4,130m/13,515ft).

Today's first-hour walk leads along the level path through a glacial valley that now heads to the north. At the confluence of the PhoksundoKhola and another mountain stream, there is an old wooden bridge. Here taking the barely distinct path to the northeast of the valley. There is no trail as such, so it is necessary to clamber over the rocks and boulders and to ford a stream that rushes down the steep valley. A long climb brings us to a sheep meadow where the trail veers up a steep ravine. A hard climb to the top brings to yet another valley where one can see the Kang-La, the pass which will lead towards SheyGompa. Overnight stay in PhoksundoBhanjyang at camp Meals: Breakfast, Lunch & Dinner

Day 10

Phoksundo bhanjyang to kang-lapass (5,160m./16,925ft). and sheygumpa (4,390m./14,400ft).

Morning walk leads up to a steep climb littered with slate towards the pass. The climb is quite strenuous, especially on the slate screed. From the top of Kang-la 5,160m/16925ft, there are excellent views down upon a large valley which is bisected by a gushing river. On descending steeply to the valley floor, then the path leads a long meandering trek along the banks of the river, crossing and re-crossing it several times. There are mud caves lining the hills overlooking the river and we pass through meadows where hairy yaks, hundreds of sheep, and domestic mountain goat (Chengra) can be found grazing as well near the odd nomadic hut of the herders. A red Chorten heralds our arrival at Shey Gompa 4,390m/14,440ft where a quaint wooden, log bridge leads up to our destination at Shey Gompa compound for our overnight camp.

Day 11

Rest days heygumpa. (crystalmonastery).

Another well-earned rest day for a local hike around Shey meaning crystal, this monastery is also known as the Crystal Mountain (well described in Peter Matthiessen's classic novel Snow Leopard). The lama of Shey resides at a red hermitage known as Tsakang gompa which is north of Shey. It is rather a retreat than a monastery. Tsakang had been a meditation center of many famous lamas from Tibet. Shey Gompa belongs to the Chaiba community, followers of great saint Padmasambhava, known as Guru Rinpoche and Kagyu sects. It was the first Kagyupa monastery and its founder was the lama Tenzing Ra-Pa, built during the 11th century.

Shey is famous for its ancient pre-Buddhist culture the Bon Po. In Dolpo, the ancient Tibetan way of life combines animism with the teaching of Buddha. Drutup Yeshe first introduced Buddhism in the Dolpo valley. Hundreds of years ago he came to Dolpo encountering a wild people whose supreme God was a 'fierce mountain and nature spirit. Crystal Mountain is to the east of Shey gompa it is one of the strangest mountains, as its contorted cliffs are laced with quartz and embedded with a rich variety of marine fossils. Shey Gompa stands above the confluence of Kangjunala and Jeju Nala River. Near the confluence, there is a group of prayer mills turned by water wheels. Each year people from all over the Dolpo region travel great distances to attend the festival at Shey and to complete the circuit of Crystal Mountain. This is an amazing trip here that certainly makes this trek as special as only a few Westerners have ever ventured up to Sheygompa. Overnight stay in SheyGomba at Camp Meals: Breakfast, Lunch & Dinner

Day 12

Sheygumpa to saldang-la (5,010m./16,430ft) and Namgung village (4,430m./14,530ft).

Our day begins by following a pleasant trail amidst juniper which descends into a grey, stony canyon. Then the path begins to zig-zag over bare rocks and coarse eroded soil until it eventually brings us to the top of Saldang-la 5,200m/17,056ft. The subsequent descent towards the north is long and tiring but we finally come upon the welcome sight of pastures of grazing yaks and sheep, and nomadic tents made from yak hair. This signals our approach to NamgungGaun at 4,800m/15,744ft. Like Shey, the Namgung monastery is of the Karma-pa sect.

The monastery, a red stone structure, is built against the backdrop of a cliff on the north wall of a gorge. The red and white colors of the gimpy and its stupas are the only color in this stark landscape. The village itself consists of only six stone houses and has terraced fields on both sides of the tributary, which flow down to the Nam Khong valley. The economy of the region is based on agriculture, animal husbandry, and trading. In Dolpo, only one crop a year can be grown and this is mainly barley. In some villages, buckwheat, oilseed, potato, and radish are also cultivated. Recently the main cliff temple collapsed and the villagers have now built a beautiful new monastery in the village itself.

Sight seeing at namdung village and over night at saldang.

On leaving the Namduna Gaun our route leads to a climb up a scree slope. Further on it begins a long traverse along some dusty barren mountains. After 3-4 hours of hard climb, Saldang 3,620m/11,874ft appears below on a plateau high above the Nam Khongmala. It has a picturesque appearance. Saldang is the largest village in the inner Dolpo area. Though the village lies at about the same altitude as Ringmo it is totally different than Ringmo, a Himalayan village is situated below the tree line while Saldang belongs to the arid zone of the Trans-Himalayan Tibetan plateau. The village stretches for nearly two kilometers on an open slope. Saldang consists of five villages having about eighty well-built houses with nearly six hundred people. Saldang is a prosperous village not only agriculturally but also for its strategic location on a trade route to Tibet. After the Chinese invasion of Tibet in 1959, trade with Tibet was virtually stopped. It has been restored to some extent through the barter system by which Tibetan salt reaches mid-Nepal. The Drokpa people from the western plains of Tibet collect salt from the dried lakes north of Tsangpo. Overnight stay in Saldang at camp. Meals: Breakfast, Lunch & Dinner

Day 14

Saldang to yangzegumpa (4,960m./16,267ft).

Our journey from here diverts further far north to the least unexplored area by westerners or by any other commercial adventure trekking companies. The trail follows the Nang Chu river most of the way on this wild barren windswept terrain. The walk begins along the fairly gradual path with a few ups and downs slope and then passing through the small settlement of Tiling and Lurigaon till we reach our overnight camp at Yangze also known as Yangtsher, just before Yangze near Lurigaon. Here we cross the tributary Panzang river, a short walk from here brings us to an unexplored region of Yangze 4,960m/16,267ft and its very old Bon-Po Monastery for the overnight halt with time for exploration around the villages and the Monastery. Overnight stay in Yangze Gompa at camp. Meals: Breakfast, Lunch & Dinner

Day 15

Yangze gumpa to sibu (4,560m./14,957ft).

From Yangze there are two trails that connect Sibu (4,560m/14,957ft), the long way trail heads due west passing through the very remote villages of Nishalgaon and further past Shimengaon. To save time and energy we will retrace the path back towards Saldang village which will be much easier and shorter than the other northwestern route. From Saldang the trail following the river bed we pass through terraced fields, stupas, Chortens, heaps of mani stones, and a Chaiba monastery, then passing through the Namdo village which is also prosperous with about sixty houses having nearly 400 inhabitants. It stretches for more than 5 km on the high slopes to the left of Nam KhongKhola. The Namdo monastery is located near the river bed. Our journey continues further down the river for another two hours to camp near the small settlement of Sibu.

Day 16

Sibutojeng-laphedi (4,900m./16,072ft).

Today's trail follows the Nam KhongKhola for a while on the morning walk coming across a caravan of laden yaks that are on their way towards the Tibet border. After days of following the same river, finally, we part turning east till we arrive at the confluence of two small tributaries, from here our walk leads to a steep climb to the bottom of Jeng La (4,900m/16,072ft), where we stay for the overnight on a nice meadow. Overnight stay in Jang La Phedi at camp Meals: Breakfast, Lunch & Dinner jeng-laphedi to jeng-lapass (5,090m./16,695ft.) and Dotarap (4,080m./13,380ft).

Day 17

Morning trek leads to two hours climb towards the top of the Jeng La (5,090m/16,695ft). An excellent view of snow ranges emerges to the south. The north face of the Dhaulagiri massif shines in the morning light. After a wonderful moment here at the pass, our walk leads us to descend on the rough path towards Tarap valley. By afternoon we come to the green valley which leads us on the pleasant track down towards Tarap Chu. Tarap is a fascinating valley with vast plains in high mountains. It extends twenty-kilo meters along the river. Tarap Chu is having ten villages with its cultivated fields and many gompas, Chortens of both sects.

Visit Tokyu monastery at 4,200m/13,776ft. This monastery also belongs to the Chiba sect. The route leads eastward along the downhill course of Tarap Chu in a plain valley with patches of lush verdant grass on both sides of the river which is completely different from other parts of inner Dolpo. There is also a marsh which is a common feature in the Desert Mountains of Tibet and the Ladakh Himalaya. In this valley, both Bon Po and Chaiba sects reside together in harmony. After a short trek on this beautiful valley, we come to Do Tarap (4,080m/13,382ft)

Day 18

Day explore and acclimatization at Dotarap.

The name Tarap refers to the entire region. The correct name of the village is Do meaning 'lower end of the valley' in Tibetan, but most local people refer to the village as Do Tarap. It consists of several clusters of closely packed houses and corrals, surrounded by fields of 'Naked barley'. The Ribo Bhumpa Gompa above the village was rebuilt in 1955, besides it is a unique Chorten containing the remains of a demon killed by Guru Rinpoche. The painting inside the Chorten represents both Bonpo and Nyingma traditions, although the Gompa itself is Nyingma. The view over the valley is superb. For a leisurely half-day excursion head east up to the valley to Dero Gompa and Shipchok Gompa a school of Bonpo.

Day 19

Dotarap to Tarap khola (karmakhola) (3,800m./12,464ft).

Today's walk can be quite a long day or moderate walk depending upon the choice of several different campsites so the itinerary can be as flexible as you like. From the quite bare country around Tarap, we descend towards a wide valley that eventually narrows into a gorge. We walk along with the juniper bush and wild rose, typical of dry inner Himalayan valleys, to just above the tree line. On this route, we might see herds of blue sheep.

By the afternoon time, we reach the confluence of the Tarap Chu and the Lang Khola, a stream that joins with the Tarap River from further east. We will make our camp on a nice meadow, this place is also known as Karmakharka (3,800m/12,464ft), while our porters will perhaps take shelter in a nearby spacious cave. Overnight stay in TarapKhola at camp Meals: Breakfast, Lunch & Dinner

Tarap khola (karmakola) to khanigaun(3,150m./10,332ft).

This morning again continues down the gorge of the Tarap River, at times alongside it, rising high above on a trail built from the steep slopes might come across people from Dolpo taking their herds to lower pastures for the winter. There are many possible campsites by the river. This will be one of the another exciting days of this trip walk, as the valley becomes so narrow in a deep gorge that in some places we can jump from one side to

Sometimes there is no trace of any path and we have to walk across stone slabs fitted on logs in between the walls which act as a bridge. The gorge also provides unexpected adventure and thrills. At some places, the bridges are either damaged or washed away and we may be forced to cross the icy torrent on foot. Finally, reaching the camping spot beside the TarapKhola at Khanigaon (3,150m/10,332ft) Overnight stay in Khanigaon at camp Meals: Breakfast, Lunch & Dinner

Khanigaun to Tarakot(2,537m//8,221ft).and Dunai (2,030m./6,685ft)

Today's trek from the campsite follows an indistinct trail to the village of Lalberi. Then passing through an area of impressive forest, before descending into another gorge our walk continues following the river again downstream to reach Tarakot where colorful terraced fields greet us. Tarakot (2,537m/8,321ft) is an old fortress town known by the local people as Dzong, meaning 'fort'. Before the Gorkha dynasty, Tarakot was the capital.

After lunch, the walk continues beside the Bheri River in a tremendous gorge with pine trees and an ingenious path built about seven meters above the river. On reaching Dunai (2,030m/6,658ft) after completing the circuit with time for celebration, particularly as bottled beers are available in Dunai. Overnight stay in Dunai at camp Meals: Breakfast, Lunch & Dinner

Dunai to juphal (2,320m./7,610ft).

We retrace the journey back to Jhuphal, which is a short distance walk along the Bheri River to the small airstrip for the last overnight camp of this great memorable adventure.

Overnight stay in Juphal at camp Meals: Breakfast & Lunch & Dinner

Day 23

Fly from jhuphal to Nepalgunj - Kathmandu.

Early morning, a short scenic flight for thirty-five minutes to Nepalgunj, over the Himalayan foothills overlooking stunning views of the main peaks including Annapurna and Dhaulagiri to the north. On arrival at Nepalgunj depending upon the connecting flight schedule to Kathmandu. If it is in the afternoon have time for a few hours of refreshment in the comfort of the Hotel Batika or similar at Nepalgunj. Then connect with the flight back to Kathmandu. Overnight stay in Kathmandu at 3-star Hotel with breakfast.

Day 24

Finally departure.

Transfer to the international airport and fly to on ward destination.
